Addressing Pain Points

- 1 Locate buildings with very different pain points and film different reactions
- 2 Perform a conflict of directions to illustrate the true pain of confusion
- 3 Quick videos of actors entering wrong lifts, wrong locations, and spending a lot of time.

We will explore at least 5 Sino buildings for identification of pain points

Solution Display

- 1 Actors will bring the prototype and connect it to the screen while the screen freezes
- 2 Immerse into the e-directory map representing the building and show navigation
- 3 Explain Key Feature throughout the navigation until destination has been reached

Estimated total cost: 21000-28000 HKD

Outcome

Branding AI

- I. Data extraction & AI-confirmation
- II. Automated introduction generation
- III. Backend dashboard for review & one-click publish

Innovative E-Directory

- I. NFC-enabled route transfer to mobile
- II. Voice search, 3D navigation interface
- III. AI crowd analysis (simulated for demo)
- IV. Front-end integration with backend CMS

Revenue Model

1 Prototype: Month 1-4

- I. Rely on Sino Group

2 Pilot: Months 5 and above

- I. SINO group's internal funding
- II. Seek vendors' funding support

Proposed Partnership Structure

SINO Group

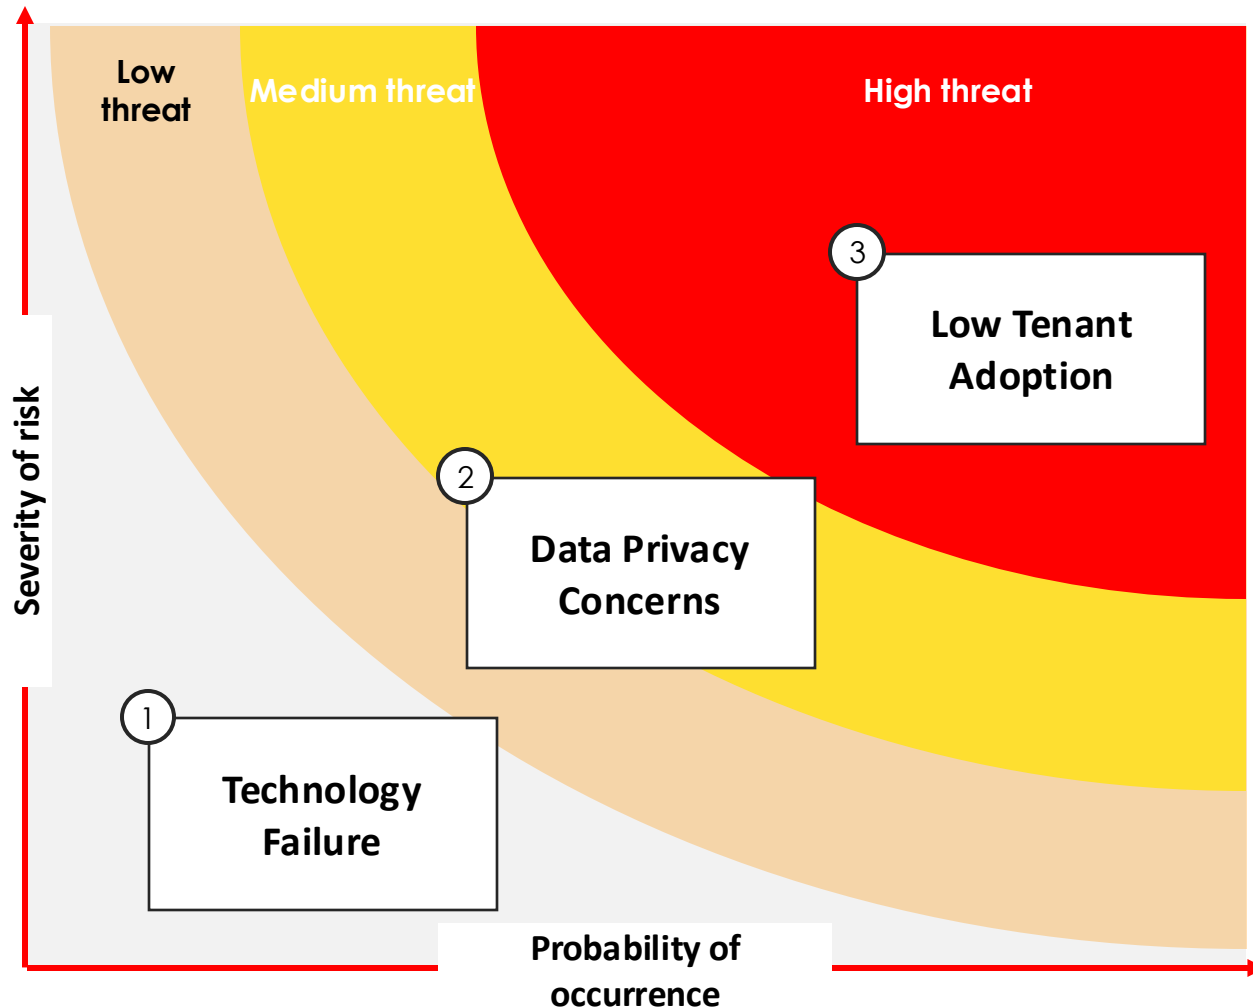

Provides property access, operational support, and initial prototype funding

External Vendors

Co-invest in pilot deployment in exchange for:

- I. Equity stake in the solution
- II. Revenue share
- III. First rights to deploy in their properties

Risk ranking

Mitigation Strategy

- 1 Provide Technical Support and Free Trial
 - Start with a free pilot with friendly tenants to build case studies
 - Assign a "Tenant Success" person to provide hands-on support
- 2 Remote Monitoring and Redundant Design
 - The kiosks will have a simple "fallback mode" in case of software issues.
 - The backend system will allow for remote monitoring and quick fixes.
- 3 Ensure Transparent Data Collection
 - For visitors, we will only track anonymized, aggregated data. Tenants will own their own content.
